Objective of the event:- The objective of the very first event “The Club Orientation” was quite simple ie to introduce students about the tech activities and events which are conducted in this particular club. Thereafter regular sessions like roadmap on Web Development and App Development have been organized which helps the students to know how they can enhance their technical skills and it also updates them about the latest technologies used in real world projects.

Details (Execution):- The session was held at IAI lab on time. Students Coordinators took the session in the quite interactive way. The whole sessions were guided in the presence of faculty coordinators. Students seem to be curious and hence after resolving their queries the session moved towards the end successfully.
