19th December, 2020

About the Seminar:

The Covid 19 Pandemic rattled the economies of countries worldwide. India too was economically affected and lots of families and businesses were either ruined or were left with nothing. This was the only time where our initial saving could have helped us out with it. But for the financial literacy was an only ladder.

Financial Literacy is a basic need in the form of knowledge and ability to manage personal finances, particularly to make accurate decision in finance and to avoid financial problems. It is not intended to complicate or curb people in enjoying life and using the money they have, but rather with financial literacy, individuals or families can enjoy life by using their financial resources appropriately to achieve their personal financial goals. We all are living in a competitive world and as an educationalist it's our duty to prepare our students for all the drastic changes occurring in our economy and society because only then our young talents, our students will be able to become an asset for the college, society and nation. Financial Literacy is the knowledge about management of personal finances. It has twin benefit of protecting one from financial frauds as well as planning for financially secure future. Financial literacy gives consumers the necessary knowledge and skills required to assess the suitability of various financial products and investments available in the financial market. This benefit to the consumers translates itself in benefits to the economy as a whole. Financial literacy has become very important during recent years, as financial markets have become complicated and as there is information gap between markets and the common person, leading to difficulties in making correct financial choices. India is amongst one of the world's most efficient and regulated financial markets. It has one of the highest savings rate in the world. While Indians prefer to save, the savings are not invested in a wise manner. A majority of population do not use modern financial products. Unless the common person becomes informed and literate about the changes in the financial markets and products and protects himself from financial distress, wealth creation for the common man and the economy will remain a distant dream. We need to create a nation of savers into a country of financially literate and wise investors to make Indian economy financially prosperous and stable. Financial literacy is viewed differently by different people, and this is reflected clearly in the definitions used in the literature. For few, it is a broad concept, an understanding of economics and how individual financial decisions are affected by economic conditions and circumstances. Thus, financial literacy is the knowledge, ability and skill to understand, control, and use one's financial resources wisely, ultimately leading to the well being and economic security of oneself, one's family, and the economy as a whole. As we all know finance is very much needed to begin anything. It is the life blood of a business. And as it's important that the students especially related to management should be financially literate. Thus, the very aim of organizing this event is to help the participants in enriching their knowledge about the innovative financial instruments and recent trends in this field. The seminar holds importance as this is an effort from our side, our institution to spread knowledge about the potential markets in our economy and render knowledge about various dimension of good investment.

Objectives of the Seminar:

- To spread financial literacy and knowledge of financial markets.
- To impart much needed education and creating awareness among various segments of society as to their protection.
- To educate investors on their rights and responsibilities.
- To make investors aware of grievances handling mechanism and different agencies to be approached for redresses.
