Report of Staff Development Program

(27th September, 4th October & 11th October, 2017)

I. Introduction

A three-day Staff Development Program was scheduled on three Wednesdays, beginning 27.09.2017. The program was planned for laboratory & workshop staff (laboratory assistants, technicians, technical assistants & foremen). Also laboratory incharges were invited to attend the program. The main purpose of the program was to bring together all laboratory and workshop staff so that they are able to see their importance in the functioning of the departments and the institute as well as teaching-learning processes.

Although various departments / sections have been running staff development and training - retraining programs for their own staff, this was the first attempt to have a common program for staff from all the departments.

It is heartening that all the departments cooperated whole heartedly and sent almost all the staff from their departments to attend the program. A few faculty members were also sent.

List of staff and faculty members who attended the program with their attendance is given in Appendix I.

II. Target Group

As stated above, target group was all laboratory & workshop staff. Though this group is homogeneous functionally because it is having similar roles and responsibilities; it is not homogeneous in their language and communication skills. Due to this, in program delivery this aspect was considered an important factor and taken into consideration during presentations and discussions. Another non-homogeneity is the position of participants in SKIT; there was mix of senior and junior staff and also their years of service in the institute. This non-homogeneity provided a good opportunity for learning for all from interaction with each other.

III. Staff Development Program Outcomes

The homogeneity and non-homogeneity of the target group as stated were taken into consideration while deciding the Program Outcomes and later during Program Delivery. Program Outcomes are stated below.

After attending the program and participating in planned activities, participants will

1. Understand technician's linkages with others.

1.1 Derive linkages with various persons and authorities (e.g. students, laboratory incharge, HOD/Deputy HOD, Purchase Officer, Parents/guardians of students etc.).

1.2 Classify linkages as very important and important.

2. Understand 'Quality Policy of the Institute'.

2.1 Given the 'Quality Policy of the Institute', explain it in their own words.

2.2 Explain their own importance in successfully implementing Quality Policy.

3. Know communication, channels of communication and domains of learning and their importance for the functioning of technicians.

3.1 State purposes of communication.

3.2 State various 'Channels of Communication' as eyes (seeing), ear (hearing), hand (touching), nose (smelling) and mouth (tasting).

3.3 State approximate amount of learning by various channels of communication.

3.4. State three domains of learning as three Hs or Cognitive (Head), Affective (Heart) and Psychomotor (Hand).

3.5 State how a technician plays an important role in learning by students in affective and psychomotor domains of learning.

4. Appreciate various roles, responsibilities and duties of laboratory / workshop personnel.

4.1 State various roles, responsibilities and duties.

4.2 Classify various roles as student-related, laboratory-related and others.

4.3 State how one can be more effective in performing a role.

5. Appreciate various aspects of laboratory maintenance.

5.1 State the meaning of 'maintenance'.

5.2 State various types of maintenance as breakdown, preventive, schedule and predictive.

5.3 State 5S Principle of Maintenance as Sorting, Systematic Maintenance, Cleaning, Standardization & Self-discipline.

5.4 Explain how 5S Principle is/can be applied in their laboratories.

6. Know various tools used in laboratory maintenance.

6.1 Identify various tools required in their laboratories.

6.2 Identify availability of a tool or facility in laboratories of their own department or other departments.

7. Know maintenance of electronic equipment, including computers.

7.1 State requirements of doing maintenance as skills and knowledge.

7.2 State the safety precautions to be used when undertaking maintenance of electronic equipment.

7.3 State the process of soldering and de-soldering.

IV. Program Delivery

In the program following delivery methods / aids/ strategies were used:

1. Use of English and Hindi during explanations, discussions and class exercises (Quality Policy was translated in Hindi and explained.)

2. Use of PPTs and white board

3. Exercises on linkages; roles, responsibilities and duties done with the assistance of participants

4. During beginning and end of a session, revision of material learnt by participants during previous session / that day done by interaction with the participants

5. Question-answer technique during the presentation

6. Supply of handouts containing photocopies of PPTs used to participants

V. Program Time Table

Program Time Table is given as Appendix II.

Main focus was on making technicians realize that they are extremely important in the teaching-learning process and maintenance of quality in the department and teaching-learning.

Also another message was to see how technicians of various departments can cooperate with each other and share resources.

Due to shortage of time, important topics related to dealing with stores and first aid could not be included.

VI. Program Feedback

Although no formal feedback was taken, informal feedback did show that participants were happy that such a program was conceived and organized for them, and importance was given to their contribution in the institute. They also felt that such programs be organized for them on a regular basis. Also a need for skill development in computer usage was felt by some participants. Departments may plan such programs for their technicians or / and all technicians who may be interested in specific skill development.

Another need expressed was providing short training to those staff who get involved during admissions so that uniform and correct information is conveyed to parents and guardians who visit the Institute during admission time. Some of the technicians felt that they remain with parents and guardians for a fairly long period, and they are asked questions of all types. A training program can be arranged in the beginning of admission session for this purpose. Also if a list of usual questions asked by parents and guardians is prepared and their answers written down and given to those involved with the admission process, it would be a good training investment.

Participants, in general were also happy about Mr. Chandan Kumar and Mr. Dinesh Sharma, Assistant Professors, Department of Mechanical Engineering for their assistance throughout the program.

VII. General Remarks

It is my pleasure to put on record my sincere thanks to Dr. S.L. Surana, Director (Academics) for showing interest in organizing such a program and providing all support for organizing the program.

I also thank Dr. S.K. Bhatnagar, HOD (EC), Mr. Vinay Singh Marwal, Associate Professor, Department of Mech. Engg. and Mr. Ashwini Kumar, Department . of CS/IT, for assisting me as faculty in the program; their inputs and interactions with the participants have been very useful.

I also sincerely thank all HODs / Deputy HODs for nominating staff members and faculty members for attending the program.

Mr. Chandan Kumar and Mr. Dinesh Sharma, Assistant Professors, Department of Mechanical Engineering were present most of the time to support me during the program; my sincere thanks to them

The Induction Programme: A Preface

When new students enter an institution, they come with diverse thoughts, backgrounds and preparations. It is important to help them adjust to the new environment and inculcate in them the ethos of the institution with a sense of larger purpose.

SKIT organized a two-week long induction program named 'ABHINAV AAYAM' from 1st-15th Aug, 2018 for the UG students entering the institution. Normal classes started only after the induction program was over. Its purpose was to make the students feel comfortable in their new environment, open them up, set a healthy daily routine, create bonding in the batch as well as between faculty and students, develop awareness, sensitivity and understanding of the self, people around them, society at large, and nature.

The time during the Induction Program was also used to rectify some critical lacunas. Basic Mathematics, English and Computer classes were conducted for students who were weak and had deficiency in it.

The following activities were planned under the induction program in which the students were fully engaged throughout the day for the entire duration of the program.

1. Physical Activity

This initiated a daily routine of physical activity with games and sports. It started with all students coming to the campus for light physical exercise or yoga. Sessions of Zumba were also organized in the morning. There were also games at other suitable times to help develop team work and energize the students.

2. Creative Arts

Every student chose one skill related to the arts whether visual arts or performing arts. The student pursued it every day for the duration of the program. These allowed for creative expression. It developed a sense of aesthetics and also enhanced creativity. Following activities were held during the induction programme:

- Drawing & Painting
- Dance (Folk and Classical)
- Vocal Music
- Instrument (Drum, Guitar and Flute)

To stand up to peer pressure, take decisions with courage, be aware of relationships with colleagues and supporting staff in the hostel and department, be sensitive to others, etc. A module in Universal Human Values provided the base. Methodology of teaching this content was not through do's and don'ts, but to get students to explore and think by engaging them in a dialogue. It was essential for giving exposure, guiding thoughts, and realizing values.

4. Literary

Literary activities encompassed reading, writing, debating, enacting a play etc.
